"Sixty by Sixty" Has Succeeded Well

Indiana State Teachers College's fund raising campaign to collect $25,000 for the purchase of library books has reached its goal two years ahead of schedule, Dr. Willis E. Pratt states.

The $25,000 fund raising campaign had been titled "60 by 60", referring to the goal of 60,000 volumes for the library in Wilson Hall by 1960.

"The money goal was met," Dr. Pratt said, "when an anonymous donor from the Alumni mailed in a check for $535.28. This makes a balance equal to $25,000 when the cash collected and pledges are considered. Some of the pledges, of course, remain to be paid."

"This $25,000 has been raised from foundations, alumni, and friends of the college," he pointed out.

The project was first discussed and approved on October 20, 1956, at a meeting of Alumni class representatives at the college. First money was actually collected in the early spring of 1957. The program had originally been scheduled to run until the fall of 1960. However, now with the cash and pledges equalling $25,000, the campaign goal has been reached.

Hess, extended greetings to the delegates and remarked that the actions taken would be such as to further the work of the General Alumni Association.

Dr. Hess requested a motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes of the Executive Council meeting held on October 12, 1957, since these minutes were published in the December 1957 issue of the Alumni News Bulletin. A proper motion was made, seconded, and carried unanimously.

Mrs. Sara B. Johnson, Chairman of the Alumni Projects Committee, reported that her committee had met at 7:30 a.m. and requested that the Association consider the following recommendations:

1. That the sum of $250.00 be allocated for wall paper and recovering two chairs in the Alumni memorial room
2. That $2,200.00 be allocated for the continued publication of the quarterly Alumni Bulletin during the college year 1958-59
3. That the General Alumni Association contribute $100.00 for the Rhodes Stabley Memorial Fund, and

4. That the General Alumni Association continue to support Dr. Pratt in his efforts for the improvement of the college, including the new athletic program that will be instituted in the near future.

Each of the above items was discussed separately, and on motions duly made and seconded the recommendations of the Projects Committee were unanimously approved.

Dr. Arthur Nicholson, editor of the Alumni News Bulletin, requested that units continue to inform the Public Relations Office of any items of interest which could be published concerning graduates of Indiana. He stated that the editor is attempting to diversify the content of the alumni bulletin so that it will reach as many interests as possible. His goal, at this moment, is a greater reading audience among men. Dr. Nicholson thanked the Alumni Units for the information that had been forwarded to his office and asked for continued co-operation to create a better Alumni Bulletin.

Dr. Nicholson, speaking for Dr. Pratt who had been delayed on important business, informed the group of his disappointment that the campus was still in one piece. He had hoped that the foundations would be under way for the four new buildings. He stated that several houses had been moved to clear the space for the Music building and that the new dormitories, one for men and another for women, will be located on the site of the present athletic field and tennis courts. Land consisting of approximately 10 acres has been purchased as a site for the new athletic field, to the southwest of Glass Street and Eleventh Street. When these buildings are finally constructed it will enable the college to have an enrollment of approximately 3,000. There is a possibility of a new library building and money for this project may be allocated sometime in the near future, although it is still in the talking stage. The current library building will probably then be used for classrooms. Dr. Nicholson concluded, "On behalf of Dr. Pratt, I thank you for your continued support of our program and hope you may have a pleasant day on campus."

A call for old business was made and when there was no response, new business was called for. Dr. Hess then read the announcement from the College Alumni Committee on reunions as follows:

"All reunion classes after the twenty-fifth shall be invited to return to Indiana every fifth year instead of every tenth year."

He stated that the previous policy had been to invite as special guests for Alumni Day the ten, twenty, twenty-five, thirty, forty, fifty, fifty-five, sixty, and sixty-five year classes, but that there had been some indication that graduates after twenty-five years would like to return every five years and that Dr. Pratt and the committee had acted on this matter early in May and adopted the new regulation. He concluded that this would enable graduates to come back twice as often.

Dr. Hess recognized the Past President of the General Alumni Association who were present—Mrs. T. J. McManus, 1941-43; Miss Angie Marshall, 1945-47; Mrs. H. E. Sanford, 1949-51; Mrs. Byron Chaplin, 1951-53; and Mr. Samuel Furgieue, 1955-57.

The meeting concluded with the reading of the program for Alumni Day, Saturday, May 24, 1958, and a motion for adjournment.

Respectfully submitted,

General Alumni Association Meeting Secretary's Minutes

The annual meeting of the General Alumni Association of the State Teachers College, Indiana, Pennsylvania, was held on Saturday morning, May 24, 1958, at 10:30 a.m. in Fisher Auditorium. The President, Dr. Glenn C. Hess, called the meeting to order with the following remarks: "You know it is during this meeting that we welcome to membership in our association the members of the graduating class of 1958, who will continue to serve their college and themselves through this organization. We welcome, also, the loyal alumni whose support has been overwhelming. I sincerely hope that you will have an enjoyable and an unforgettable day on your college campus."

A motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes which were published in the December 1957 Alumni News Bulletin was duly made, seconded, and unanimously carried.

The 1958 graduating class was then escorted to the seats reserved for them by Mrs. Lesta Fleck Ober, 1908, and Mrs. Betty Berger Abel, 1918. Mrs. Ober, presenting the class to the Alumni Association, said, "As a member of the Class of 1908, I consider it a distinct honor to present for membership in the Alumni Association the Class of 1958. I am sure they will learn to love and appreciate Indiana as we old timers do."

Dr. Hess to the graduating class: "I am happy to welcome you into membership, the Class of 1958. I trust you will actively participate in the Alumni Association program and return to the campus frequently to renew your acquaintances."

Mr. Larry Hawn: "As a representative of the Class of 1958, I wish to express our appreciation and tell you that we have enjoyed our four years at Indiana. Upon this eve of graduation, we have come to realize that we can be proud of Indiana. On behalf of the Class of 1958, I pledge our loyalty to this college and on behalf of our class accept membership into the Alumni Association. I only hope that we can be as good alumni as you, Mrs. Ober."

The Treasurer's Report followed, given by Miss Mary L. Esch, Treasurer. (See Executive Council Minutes) A motion was made and seconded to accept the report of the Treasurer. Motion carried.

The Projects Committee report was given by the Chairman, Mrs. Sally Johnson. She spoke as follows: "At the meeting of the Executive Council this morning, the following projects were approved for the coming year:

1. Allocate $250.00 for reconditioning two chairs and wall paper for our Alumni Room
2. Allocate $2,200.00 for the publication of the 1958-59 Alumni Bulletins
3. Contribute $100.00 to the Rhodes E. Stabley Memorial Fund, and
4. Continue our support on programs initiated by the college in the near future.

Dr. Arthur Nicholson, Editor of the Alumni Bulletin, was then called on. "The Alumni quarterly is published in June, October, December, and March, and the next issue is on the press now. We will be very happy to have the Class of 1958 among our readership for the next year. We hope you will continue your membership in future years in the Alumni Association and keep in contact with the college through the quarterly. We are especially interested in the big events of professional advancement of yourselves and your colleagues."

Dr. Hess announced that a new policy on reunions had been approved by Dr. Pratt and the Campus Alumni Association; namely, that "All reunion classes after the twenty-fifth year shall be invited to return to the campus every fifth year instead of every tenth year." He added that, "You always, of course, are very welcome to come back to the college. Under the program that has always been followed, every tenth year you are able to stand up and be recognized. This opportunity for recognition will come twice as often with the establishment of this particular policy."

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the College, was introduced by Dr. Hess. "I should warn you that this is the first public appearance I have made since last October; I do so with some hesitation. I want to take this opportunity to extend to you a very cordial welcome to the college. We continue to expand the college and its program. We have initiated a building program that will reach almost two million dollars. A project for modernization of seven fire towers is already under way. It will probably be completed by Thanksgiving. Construction of the new dormitories housing 180 men and 150 women should start early in June. Bids for construction of the new Music Building on Eleventh Street and the new Science Building will be received this month. The Commonwealth has purchased 10 acres of land for tennis courts, baseball field and football field. We shall likely wish to ask Alumni support for these new facilities. I know we can count on your support in this endeavor as we have in the past. I hope you will stay with us for the commencement tomorrow morning at the Flagstone Theater."

Miss Esch reported that the contributions and pledges to the Wilson Hall Library project now total $23,950.52, and she gave the following summary:

	Contributions	Pledges
Alumni Units	$ 1,096.00
Campus Organizations	2,121.02	$1,350.00
Local Organizations and Friends	4,960.00	2,000.00
Graduates by Classes	10,769.50	1,654.00
TOTALS	$18,946.52	$5,004.00

Dr. Hess asked members of reunion classes to stand as he announced the reunion years. Classes recognized were: 1888, 1893, 1898, 1903, 1918, 1923, 1928, 1933, 1938, and 1948. Miss Belle Simpson (1888) was given a hearty round of applause as the oldest graduate present.

Esch, Registrar and Executive Secretary; Mrs. Sally Johnson, Chairman of the Projects Committee; Mrs. Maude Goehring, Secretary for the Association; Dr. P. D. On roll call of Alumni Units, reports were given from the following groups: Altoona, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh Senior Group, Pittsburgh Junior Group, Pittsburgh North Boros, Tarentum, Jeannette, Tri-Township, Indiana, McKeesport, and Detroit.

Dr. Hess read the program for Saturday afternoon and evening, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Let's Not Run Scared

by

S. Trevor Hadley, Dean of Students

State Teachers College, Indiana, Pennsylvania

Today's educators need to face up to criticisms with confidence and to defend staunchly those educational achievements which have reached the American public school system during the last half century. All is not bad in our public schools.

But — we must not "run scared." There is a human inclination to jump on the down-trodden and to join the attackers. Can we prove again our right to professional status by the way we react to and profit from the current wave of criticism leveled at public education?

Sometimes, however, the best defense is a good offense. Professional writers, especially those who cater to public tastes in newspapers and magazines, are extremely clever. It is often not what they write directly, but what is implied between the lines that is most vicious. This type of attack is often most damaging and most unfair. Here are two examples:

Harriet Van Horne, a Scripps-Howard staff writer, whose feature writing is widely read in this great chain of newspapers, recently wrote as follows: "At the moment we are undergoing a reappraisal of our educational system. We are reminded at every hand that not only can't Johnny read, he can't spell or add, either. That he scored an A in sandbox adjustment is suddenly beside the point. The problem — goes far beyond our losing the Sputnik race. It foretells a day when our people — like those who came after Rome's fall — may not be able to read the inscriptions on their great public monuments."* What unmitigated rot. Rome's fall, while blamed on many things, has never been blamed, to my knowledge, upon her educational system, and her conquerors who could not read the inscriptions on the monuments were Germanic tribesmen without the Greek and Latin culture that would have supplied them with a reading knowledge of those languages. A similar statement would be made about our American G.I.'s who were unable to read the inscriptions on Japanese monuments in the public squares of Toyko. I have never met the teacher, no matter how progressive his or her inclinations, who would evaluate "sandbox adjustment" above reading, spelling, and number skills. Miss Van Horne needs telling.

In 1956, Rudolph Flesch attacked present methods of teaching reading in his now famous, "Why Johnny Can't Read." Dr. Flesch had some good and sound things to say, but he was also guilty of some flagrant misuse of the language in an effort to plant seeds of doubt and distrust in the reader's mind. For example, on the last page of the book, he says, "I am not one of those people who call them un-American or left-wingers or Communist fellow travelers. All I am saying is that their theories are wrong."* How evil can one be in the use of words. By the very act of saying, "I am not one to call them—," he plants the impression that thousands of other "experts" are calling them just that, and perhaps with good reason. Analyze that sentence, for a moment, if you will. By the steepest stretch of the imagination, how could any objective, fair analyst somehow imply that teachers who employ certain methods in teaching six-year-old Johnny to read are therefore members of the Communist party.

Let's not run scared before people whose attacks and whose writing are as unscrupulous as these. When writers use the language in such obvious efforts to mislead, to confuse, to show distrust and doubts, we should not sit idly back. We should use every opportunity to point up their purposes and to question their judgment.

Board of Trustees Names Four New Buildings

---

Walsh, Cogswell,
Langham, Wahr

Four buildings scheduled to be constructed at State Teachers College by Pennsylvania General State Authority have been named officially by the board of trustees. Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president, has announced.

New construction will include a science building, men's dormitory, music building and a women's dormitory.

Trustees designated the science building, to be situated east of Wilson Hall Library, as Walsh Hall in honor of Dr. Matthew J. Walsh. Dr. Walsh for many years served as dean of instruction.

The music building, to be situated on 11th Street between Oakland and Grant Streets, will be named in honor of Dr. Hamlin Cogswell. Dr. Cogswell served as director of the music education department from 1900 to 1925.

The men's dormitory will be named in recognition of the late Judge J. Nicholas Langham, long-time member of the board of trustees and judge of Indiana County Courts for 20 years.

The women's dormitory will be named in honor of Corinne Menk Wahr, Class of 1916, who left a large sum of money which has been used to set up the Wahr scholarship fund.

New dormitories will be situated off Grant Street in the area now occupied by tennis courts and a baseball diamond. The athletic area will be moved to the vicinity of 11th and Glass Streets.

Dr. Walsh served the college for a number of years as chairman of the department of education. In 1926 he became dean of instruction. Many policies which still guide the academic life of the college were introduced by him. They include the student advisory system and a quality point system.

He served for two brief periods as acting president of the college. Since his retirement in 1942, he has continued to be a firm supporter of the college.

Judge Langham served almost two decades as a member of the board of trustees. During that period and years later a civic leader and a figure in government, he worked unceasingly for the betterment of the college.

Dr. Cogswell was the first director of music education. He was a leader and pioneer in music education in Western Pennsylvania for the first quarter of the 20th Century. His wife, who was a member of the music staff, composed the college's Alma Mater.

Dr. Cogswell is credited with giving the music department a great boost in terms of reputation and tradition from his early days as music director to his retirement in 1925.

The Wahr scholarship fund, makes possible the granting of approximately 15 four-year scholarships yearly to worthy students. Each scholarship totals between $100 and $200.

In addition, seven Wahr merit recognition scholarships of $50 each are given annually to students for excellence in athletics, campus welfare, fine arts, initiative, professional potential, scholarship and writing.

In any one year as many as 80 students may be receiving a total of $8,000 of Wahr scholarship money. Policy governing the scholarship fund is established by the board of trustees and administered by a committee appointed by the college president.

MOVING ATHLETIC FIELD

● More space for the expanding program at Indiana State Teachers College is being provided by a transfer of the present athletic field area from the Grant Street location to a new area off Glass and Eleventh Streets, Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of the college, states.

Total cost of the new athletic field development will probably reach $300,000.

Complete development of the new athletic field will occur over a three to five year period. Dr. Pratt indicates.

Funds will be raised from Alumni and friends of the College to assist in the long range work.

Workmen are now grading and making this new ten acre site ready. Part of the problem of the new development is to properly place exist-lines and regrade the field.

Workmen have dug to lower about 400 feet of gas pipe line to accord with the new levels caused by the regrading and leveling of land now in progress.

Many state and private groups have been cooperating in this extensive new athletic field project, Dr. Pratt points out.

Mr. Joseph Hoover, Pittsburgh architect, drew plans for the new field. The Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Company provided a topographical survey.

With the cooperation of Mr. Nick Kovalchick, Mr. Joseph Brodsky, and Indiana Borough, 780 feet of 24 inch drainage pipes were placed the full width of the field from Eleven Street along Glass Street past Paper Mill Avenue to west beyond Twelfth Street draining into a natural creek flowing in that area, Dr. Pratt explains.

With the rental of equipment by the College, approved by the Department of Property and Supplies, grading of the field has been initiated and should be completed before the end of the fall.

Seeding and installation of the baseball field will occur in the fall. A project has been prepared by the Department of Property and Supplies for the installation of six all weather tennis courts in this new athletic area.

The maintenance staff of the College will construct the baseball diamond and install the backstop during the current college year.

The moving of the football field will not occur for another year or two.

PROJECTED EXPANSION PROGRAM

● A projected $16,550,00 expansion program for Indiana State Teachers College is part of Gov. Leader's plan to more than double facilities at Pennsylvania's 14 state teachers colleges, it was announced August 18, 1958.

Leader's program — calling for total expenditures of more than $122 million—is aimed at increasing school enrollments and alleviating a shortage of well-prepared teachers in Pennsylvania by 1970.

The proposed expansion on the local campus includes the construction of the following buildings:

A music and art building, utility expansion, seven women's dormitories (each to house 200), a science classroom building, three men's dormitories (each to house 200).

An addition to the existing boiler plant, a library building, an administration building, relocation of the athletic field, a new field house for men.

A new maintenance building, a new dining hall and kitchen, a student community center, an infirmary building, a special education classroom building, a home economics building.

A new arts classroom building, a new general classroom building, new residence for the president and adequate parking facilities.

Construction is soon to start on four of these projects—men's dormitory, women's dormitory, music and art building, and science building.

In Leader's announcement, he estimates the Indiana enrollment at 3,000 students by 1970, but, according to college officials, the present rate of growth indicates a much larger attendance figure by that year.

LIBRARY BUILDING APPROVED

● Approval has been given for construction of a $571,000 library on the campus of Indiana State Teachers College.

The ISTC library allocation was among several state projects receiving a "green light" from the General State Authority in Harrisburg.

The library will increase the Indiana College's present expansion program to five buildings.

The proposed library has been on the planning boards of the local college, but funds for its construction were not included in an allocation to ISTC two years ago.

The GSA gave final approval on a $100,000 appropriation for boiler room alterations at the local college.

NAME "MARTIN RANGE"

● State Teachers College, Indiana, has officially designated its small-bore indoor rifle range, "Martin Range." This is in recognition of Col. Talbert I. Martin, who as PMS & T of the college ROTC Unit during the period of 1953-57, was instrumental in the design and construction of the facility.

Martin Range was completed in February 1955. It is a cement block structure, eighty-two feet long and twenty-nine feet wide.

The range features five firing points with retractable target carrier at each point, fluorescent lighting throughout the building; a security locker and arms room with humidity control; a steam heating system; a washroom and numerous facilities such as coat racks, book stands, scoring boards, table lamps, etc., to accommodate shooters.

The flat-roofed structure is located on the college campus in proximity to the Military Science building. It is within five minutes walking distance of the most remote college buildings.

The nearness to other campus facilities encourages student participation in marksmanship.

SUTILA BUILDS DORMITORY

● A new dormitory to house 84 Indiana State Teachers College freshmen girls has been constructed privately by Joseph Sutila of Indiana, Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of the college, announced.

The new structure was ready for occupancy by September 8, 1958, Dr. Pratt stated.

"This building will be a great aid in helping to relieve the drastic campus housing shortage at the college," Dr. Pratt said. "One of the chief limiting factors to further expansion of the college has been and continues to be a shortage of buildings."

"The College has been operating with increasing efficiency to meet the challenge of ever large demands for admission of students. We no sooner get one new facility established until we have already grown to the point where we need more."

"The College is not consciously trying to expand enrollment; we are in the midst of a great need for public school teachers educated at Indiana and a desire on the part of more high school graduates to come to the College at Indiana," Dr. Pratt pointed out.

"Mr. Sutula's privately constructed dormitory will literally make it possible for 84 girls to attend Indiana whom we otherwise could not have admitted for lack of space.

The new dormitory is one story, wood-framed, and brick cased. Its size is 75 feet by 141 feet on a lot of 120 feet by 150 feet located at 835 Grant Street almost immediately adjacent the college campus.

Mr. Sutula already has a private dormitory housing 60 college girls located at the corner of Wayne Avenue and Grant Street.

The new dormitory is 120 feet along the front width and with two wings going back 141 feet. Between the two wings there is an open court.

Provided in the new dormitory also are lounge and recreation rooms, quarters for a head resident, and basement home laundry facilities.

NEW PARKING LOT

● Much needed new parking space to accommodate fifty automobiles has been developed at Indiana State Teachers College under a local contract by A. F. Moreau and Sons of Indiana.

The new space was added to the parking area at the North entrance to the college off Washington Street and Oakland Avenue.

"The college is seeking to develop further parking areas in line with the general expansion program of the institution," Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of the college said.

"It is essential that some campus be maintained as campus, but we are trying to extend present parking facilities wherever possible and to add new ones when we acquire the space," Dr. Pratt explained.

"One of the principal difficulties in maintaining adequate parking appears to be involved with the very human desire for parking right by the building being visited."

"As is true in business, in town, at industrial plants, at stores, it is impossible for the college to provide all the 'immediate' and directly adjoining parking space everyone would want," Dr. Pratt pointed out.

"Indiana State Teachers College will have to develop some parking areas which will require people to walk the equivalent of a block or two. We do not have the land to do otherwise," President Pratt concluded.

INSTANO 1912

● On Saturday, May 10, thirty-two members of Instano 1912, and two guests, met for luncheon in the Jefferson Room of the George Washington Hotel in Washington, Pennsylvania. Our guests were Miss Ethel Orr, an alumnus and former faculty member of Indiana, and Mrs. Dorothy Parker Foust of the Washington school system.

Janet Little Banfield, Janet Bemis, Jeanette Allison Carlysle, and Mabel Munshower Zehner were the committee in charge.

Following the luncheon, the usual exchange of snapshots and news concerning grandchildren and travel took place. We were then entertained with pictures and highlights of the latest venture of our globe-trotting member, Florence Wallace. We understand she already is contemplating another flight.

We are sorry to report the passing of three of 1912 classmates since our last meeting; Joseph Sheriff, who had served as a College Trustee; Edith Hancox Fay; and Ruth Magee Harris.

The Instano group will be happy to welcome any member of the 1912 class who would enjoy meeting with their classmates twice each year. The next scheduled meeting will be held in Pittsburgh, place to be announced later; time, the first Saturday in November.

If you are interested contact Mrs. Joseph P. Clarke, 400 Cochran Road, Apt. 105, Pittsburgh 28, Pennsylvania.

50-YEAR REUNION

● Members of the class of 1908, Indiana State Teachers College, held their 50-year reunion in May, 1958, in Indiana.

The festivities started with a dinner party at Rustic Lodge where Gladys Bash Evans and her husband Alvin, were hosts to twenty-three.

The table was decorated in green and white — a huge arrangement in green and white with green down the center of the table and a white carnation corsage for each guest carrying out the class colors and the class flower.

After the dinner, the group went to the home of Ruelba Lewis Steel and her husband, Earl. Here the pictures of class history, those of children and grand-children were shown.

A card was signed by all to send to the one-time critic, Miss Jennie Ackerman in Coral Gables, Florida and another to a local classmate, Helen Daugherty Taylor who is a hospital patient to let them know they were not forgotten.

Lesta Fleck, one time valedictorian, led the procession of seniors and presented them to the alumni in well chosen remarks.

At noon the group was in attendance at the Alumni Luncheon in the College Dining Room. The response for the class was given by Clarence E. Davis.

The afternoon was spent in various ways by smaller groups — a trip over town with the Steels, a visit to the Race garden and groups scattered here and there.

The highlight of the week was the dinner party at the Country Club where 26 enjoyed a delicious meal. Here an award was presented by Florence Langhaus Hill to Lesta Fleck Ober who had come the greatest distance, another to Hilda Bruce Broockman as having her birthday nearest today, one to Elizabeth Mc-

Henry Winger as the one having the largest number of grandchildren—fifteen, and one to Clarence (Curly) Davis for being the first man present to tell the birthday of his wife.

Another car ride brought the group to the home of Clويد and Mary Rinn.

The class roll was brought up to date. There was a period of sadness when the roll of those departed showed that in ten years it was more than doubled and now stands at 36.

Many not present sent letters which were read with interest. This corrected list and a copy of this news item will be sent to all.

Delectable refreshments were served by the hosts.

Those in attendance were:

Gladys Bash Evans, Ebensburg; Merle Bedell Scott, McKeesport; Hilda Bruce Broockmann, Wilkinsburg; Agnes Campbell Race, Indiana; Nell Cribbs Capen, Indiana.

As an award recipient, Mr. Meyer received an expense free six weeks study course this past summer at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y. The fellowship included traveling expenses, board, lodging, tuition, and fees.

Selection of the teachers for the fellowship awards is based on their demonstrated interest and ability in science or mathematics. They must be experienced junior or senior high school teachers who expect to continue teaching and who have not held a previous General Electric summer fellowship. The selection is made from applicants to the six colleges participating in the program.

Courses in the six colleges are conducted by their faculties and are designed to bring teachers up to date in their fields of instruction. Trips are made to General Electric laboratories and plants in the areas of the schools. Company engineers, scientists, and executives give talks pertaining to their special fields.

Pioneered fourteen years ago at Union College, Schenectady, N.Y., the General Electric Science Fellowship Program is the oldest industry-college cooperative project of its kind. Not only is it now conducted at six different colleges by General Electric, it has become the model for many other industry and government summer science institute programs.

College Hits Record Enrollment

Enrollment at the State Teachers College, Indiana, Pennsylvania, has reached a record figure in 1958-59 for the fourth consecutive year despite every effort to hold down enrollment because of the need for more facilities.

A total of 2640 students are now enrolled at the college in Indiana, according to Mary L. Esch, registrar.

This number includes 2619 full time students and 21 persons who are now enrolled full time but who will transfer to nurses training at the Indiana Hospital at the end of the current semester.

The 2640 figure for 1958-59 compares with the 2378, including 19 nurses, for 1957-58.

For the current semester there are 869 new students, including transfers, compared with 753 for 1957-58.

Of the 2640, 1197 are men and 1143 are women.

In addition to the full time enrollment of 2640 there are about 125 persons enrolled part time in the graduate studies division and approximately 125 teachers in service will be taking Saturday Campus classes offered by the college this fall.

Many persons are viewing a course in "Science in the Elementary School", given by Indiana State Teachers College over WQED TV in Pittsburgh.

The enrollment at the college has had to be limited this year because of the desire of the college to avoid further overcrowding of facilities. For every place the college had for a new student there were at least two applicants or more during the past spring and summer, Dr. Pratt said.

No matter how fast the college builds new buildings, it would seem to be impossible to keep up with the demand for enrollment. The Indiana State Teachers College now contemplates the construction of six new buildings which are necessary just to keep even with the needs of the present enrollment.

Colleges across the country, Dr. Pratt stated, are undergoing the same problem. More and more students are wanting to attend college, and the facilities of colleges are being pressed to the utmost.

One of the outcomes of the huge demand for enrollment in colleges and at Indiana State Teachers College has been the raising of admission requirements. Each year the college has to become more and more highly selective in the admissions of students.

Most of the students who are attending Indiana State Teachers College have been in the upper half of their graduating classes, and many of them were in the upper quarter.

All of them had to pass a strict entrance examination with a reasonably high score. The passing score on the entrance examination is being raised constantly, Dr. Pratt pointed out.

The best assurance for admission to a college or a university at this time, Dr. Pratt advised, is the best possible high school record and an early beginning of the enrollment process.

Indiana State Teachers College already has 100 applications for new students for the term which begins in September, 1959. It will not be possible for the college to accept more than a total of 700 new students, including transfers, for the 1959-60 term.
